Safely store your stash

We know kids get into everything - but when that 'everything' includes your marijuana, such as edibles, CBD oil, and other cannabis-related products, things can take a turn fast. Weed can be downright dangerous for little ones and has adverse effects on teenage brain development.

Make sure you store your stash in a safe place - out of reach for any little hands in your house, and also locked up from any older kids looking to experiment.

If your child has ingested marijuana (or you suspect they have), contact Poison Control at 800-222-1222 right away.
